

Actress Elsi Eng gears up for her second film production

Los Angeles, Jan 31, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Vancouver, known as the Hollywood North, may not be as big and well-known as its counterpart in Los Angeles, but that doesn't mean they don't harvest real talent there.

Elsi Eng is a bilingual actress who has made her vampire debut on "True Blood". She grew up in Vancouver and received most of her acting training from New York Film Academy. While staying busy on her current career path, Elsi works with kids and teens, cultivating their uniqueness and talent as an acting coach. It's important for Elsi to stay connected to her roots, and to contribute to her community through passion.

In 2019, Elsi has written, produced and directed her first film "Searching". This film has been nominated for Best Sound Editing and Best Trailerbyte for a Feature Film at the Golden Trailer Awards 2019. Shot in Vancouver, this narrative film is about an artist lost in her masks, trapped in time, searching for herself. "And along the way struggling to breathe as life pushes hard against her" Elsi said. "The inner turmoil helps her to discover something gold." A Mandarin Chinese version of this film is also available to be enjoyed by the Chinese audience as well.

In 2020, Elsi is now gearing up to co-produce and star in the feature film "Ai Lun", working alongside LA-based award-winning director Hector Abaunza. This is a story about triplet sisters and Elsi will face the challenge of portraying 3 identical-looking but different women with their own tragic stories.

"I'm trying to bring most of the production from LA to Vancouver, where I grew up because I want to showcase the beautiful landscape and cityscape (of Vancouver)" Elsi said. As an actress, she finds wearing the hat a producer exhilarating, she said: "I'm finally doing things I have always wanted to do but didn't because I tricked myself into believing that I was too young, too old, too basic, too out there..."
