

Escape Associates Provides Personalized Relocation For The Frankly Fed Up

Leave expensive, badly governed, unsafe states for a happily ever after elsewhere with expert help!

Los Angeles, Jan 27, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Escape. That's the word, the hope, the dream and the goal you'll hear people talking about over and over these days in the high-tax, low-safety, insane cost-of-living, decaying cities and states across America that used to be great places to live in and move to but are fast becoming places to get out of and move away from.

Over 700,000 people moved out of California last year, with similar numbers for New York, Illinois, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and the rest, but thousands more would have escaped if they could have found some professional, reliable, knowledgeable help and guidance. EscapeAssociates.com offers just that kind of personalized, one-on-one expertise in every facet of making the big move, saving people just like you money, confusion, and angst for a reasonable fee.

"My wife and I made our own escape from my native Los Angeles to Tennessee about two years ago," explains founder Dan Fendel, a former network TV director and journalist—his wife is an assistant to top-level executives. "We'd planned it for several years and done lots and lots of homework."

But even with that lead time, careful research, and preparation, the Fendel family found pitfalls, loopholes, and issues that most never know about until it is too late. Now that experience and a proven track record of helping many other families escape too has created a thriving business doing personalized relocation consultation unlike anything else around.

“Some seek a new job, some a place for a new business, some a solid retirement, some just want an affordable, happy life they can no longer find where they are now,” Fendel explains. Saving their clients all of the confusion, the expense, and the stress and guiding them in making the escape to a great new locale truly a happily-ever-after experience is what EscapeAssociates.com is all about.

“We’re not movers, real estate agents, accountants or lawyers, and we’re not chamber-of-commerce or corporate relocation people, as fine as some of those are,” Fendel explains. “We are experts who help you figure out where to and where not to go, take you through the ins and outs of getting there in one piece affordably, and help you make settling into your new life post-escape a joy, not a trial. We do it one-on-one, personalized, and customized to you.”

Fendel adds, with a smile, “Nobody else offers this kind of personalized, specialized expertise. It will save you many times what it costs, and a whole lot of sleepless nights, too. The full story is on our website at www.EscapeAssociates.com . It isn’t flashy or fancy—just read it and you’ll fully understand how we custom-tailor the experience to your own unique needs, goals, and dreams.”

EscapeAssociates.com has helped folks relocate to states like Texas, Tennessee, Missouri, Florida, Idaho, and many, many more—each to meet the unique needs of work, health, schools, retirement, or whatever else their clients are looking for. If you’ve begun to realize that where you are now isn’t getting better and is even getting worse faster, EscapeAssociates.com is ready to help you escape, too.
