Major Indie Hip Hop artist Nina Capone releases her first official single in over 10 years and it's getting nothing more than great reviews.

Immediate Release – 22-January-2020 Major Indie Hip Hop Recording Artist Nina Capone new single has everybody dancing in their seats, simply creating a new buzz. After calling it quits losing her brother dealing with health issues and extreme anxiety of fame, Nina has put all that aside, conquered her fears and is back with vengeance. With the style and grace of an R&B singer, and the look of a model sky's the limit for Ms. Capone she is only getting started.

“Fame is one of those things that just ruins the entire experience of doing what I love. So many standards to live up to. If I can do my music and be treated equally after leaving the stage..... I would.”

Nina will also be releasing a video and the official Nina Capone website in the next few weeks. She is still working on new music but doesn't be shocked she may already have something ready to go.

Dope Chic will not be the first of the upcoming singles to be released lookout for something new each and every month.
