Endodontics is the branch of dentistry concerning dental pulp and tissues surrounding the roots of a tooth. "Endo" is the Greek word for "inside" and "odont" is Greek for "tooth." Endodontic treatment, or root canal treatment, treats the soft pulp tissue inside the tooth. An endodontist is a dentist who has additional training and specializes in performing root canal treatment and diagnosing and treating tooth pain. They maintain teeth through endodontic procedures which involve the pulp.

Outside of the office, Dr. Mirchandani enjoys travelling, swimming, reading, as well as doing pilates and yoga. She speaks English, Bengali, Hindi, and Sindhi.
