Dallas, Feb 28, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Actor/comedian Brandon T. Jackson is hosting an entertainment Showcase for indy film and music talent. The Showcase promotes clean comedy, acting and music and will connect talent to industry executives and investors through Jackson's company KOE Studios. Green-lights and actionable knowledge are the goals of the event, which Jackson sees as a way to remove barriers for artists and performers who are journeying to realize their dreams. The Showcase will be held at Media Tech Institute in Dallas, TX and welcomes all entertainers to come and display their talents. This event is open to entertainers of all genres and ages.

Opportunities are defining moments in any career, but we must be prepared to take advantage of each of them so we can be ready for the next," Jackson said. "It can be hard to get in front of entertainment decision-makers that are willing to share useful information."

In addition to Jackson, who is hosting the event, celebrity DJ Earl Alston, Internet sensation Juhann Jones. Nasik Rav Media, Kyyba Films, RCA Records, legendary producer Nagaris Johnson and others are confirmed. Recording artist, comedians and actors will have the chance to perform, attend workshops panel discussions and network with industry insiders. There is also an opportunity for artists to submit tracks for Jackson's upcoming movie soundtrack.
