Get to know Registered Nurse & Certified Nurse, Operating Room, Amber Marie Sammons, who serves patients throughout the State of Michigan.

New York City, Feb 27, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Amber is a registered nurse & certified nurse, operating room who is affiliated with Ascension Healthcare, McLaren Health Care Corporation, and Hurley Medical Center. She serves patients throughout the state of Michigan.

A graduate of the University of Michigan–Flint, she attributes her success to her willingness to grow and take on opportunities that may be uncomfortable at first.

For the purpose of advancing her professional development, she remains a member of the Association of periOperative Registered Nurses, which represents more than 41,000 registered nurses in the United States and abroad who facilitate the management, teaching, and practice of perioperative nursing, or who are enrolled in nursing education or engaged in perioperative research.

A registered nurse (RN) is a nurse who has graduated from a nursing program and met the requirements outlined by a country, state, province or similar licensing body to obtain a nursing license. RNs fulfill a variety of job duties. In addition to their primary role in treating and caring for patients, their responsibilities also include educating patients and the public about a variety of medical conditions, as well as providing emotional support and advice to the families of their patients. Other RN job functions include leadership, research, performing diagnostic tests and analyzing results, operating medical equipment, administering medications, recording patients' symptoms and medical histories, and assisting with patient rehabilitation and follow-up.

A certified nurse, operating room (CNOR), also known as a perioperative nurse, is a registered nurse with advanced skills and certification in the care of surgical patients. They are responsible for the safe, effective, and efficient care of the patient in the operating room.
