

I-softinc offers top-notch mobile application development services in India

I-softinc is an Indian mobile application development company that offers high-quality and cost-effective app solutions to businesses that can't afford to go beyond their budget.

Noida, Feb 27, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - I-softinc is a mobile application development company with a difference. It completely owns an app development project and helps its clients every step of the development process, making them understand every minute detail of the project.

I-softinc is an Indian mobile application development company that offers high-quality and cost-effective app solutions to businesses that can't afford to go beyond their budget. The company serves many industries that include but are not limited to automobile, entertainment, education, software, healthcare, media, and start-ups. The company understands that all these industries have different requirements when it comes to what they expect a mobile app to do for them and their customers or clients.

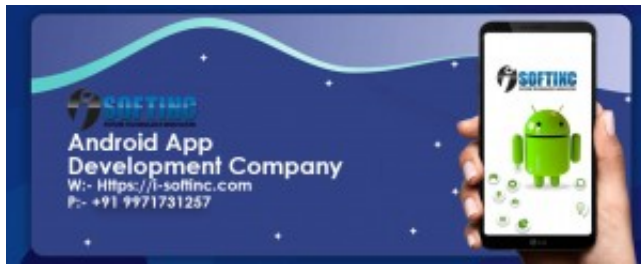

Though I-softinc is based in India, it offers its quality mobile application development services throughout the world. So, it has more than 50 international clients. Overall, the company has more than 1000 clients all over the world, which is an achievement when you consider that it was established only a decade ago.

The mobile application development company has a team of app developers who have the experience to pull off the most complex of projects. They understand how a mobile app works and how does it help businesses to reach more customers, affect their buying decisions, and generate more revenue.

The company's long list of clients includes names like Fortis Healthcare, Delhi Daredevils (IPL), Hindustan Times, YepMe, and more. It has developed apps that have garnered millions of downloads, including Faasos, Club Factory, Unacademy, and more. I-softinc offers service to both small and large scale businesses and doesn't differentiate companies based on their market standing or valuation.

About I-softinc

I-softinc is an ISO 9001:2008 certified company that was founded in 2010. It is primarily a mobile application development in India but also offers other services, such as software development services.

Media Contact

I-softinc

sales@i-softinc.com

Source : I-softinc

See on IssueWire