San Francisco, Feb 16, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Mohammad Tiregar in The Movie "Colorless Sky" is a Chinese war film directed by Li Chen. It is Li's directorial debut. The film is produced in collaboration with People's Liberation Army Air Force and is China's first aerial warfare film. The plot centers on an elite group of Chinese soldiers that thwart a terrorist plot and resolve a hostage crisis. The film had the full support of the People's Liberation Army Air Force (PLAAF), with it being the first time that a film crew was allowed access to the military bases by the People's Liberation Army Air Force for shooting. Military experts and trainers serve as advisers for the movie's script, which is primarily written by air force Lieutenant Colonel Zhang Li.
