

Sandip University Launches A Brand New Website

Nashik, Feb 11, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Sandip University has launched a new website to drive online interaction through an upgraded interface. The idea behind revamping Sandip University's online presence is to ensure a more tech-based and cutting-edge approach that would be enticing experience for prospective students and other users. The site presents all relevant information about the University, the educational programmes they offer, outstanding salient features of the University, and a thorough understanding of the educational wonder that is Sandip University.

Students interested in attaining an industry-relevant and global education can check out Sandip University's website to find a multitude of courses ranging from engineering, computer science, law, management, pharmaceutical science, fashion design and beauty cosmetology, to interior design, and even social science.

The website was developed and launched by Sandip University's in-house software and content development team through sheer diligence and dedication. "Our website is our global brand ambassador and since a lot of international students apply to Sandip University, we were very aware about how we wanted to portray ourselves on a global scale," said Sandip University's Chairman, Dr. Sandip Jha.

The website not only states information about courses and basic details about the University, but also offers a vibrant library of blogs and articles on latest technological innovations, robotics, artificial intelligence, machine learning, Cloud technology, and information security, to name a few topics. The blogs even cover topics related to career choices for students who are looking for some career guidance.

Besides this, the website also updates students about upcoming events, examinations, guest lectures, workshops, extracurricular activities, and such relevant information. There is a portal on the homepage of the website which enables prospective students to seek any information that they require about the University.

Sandip University is one of India's premier educational institutes with state-of-the-art facilities that empower students towards attaining a globally-relevant education through an industry-oriented curriculum. Sandip University has an outstanding placement record and tie-ups with many public and private sector companies who participate in the University's annual placement drives.

Take a look at Sandip University's website on www.sandipuniversity.edu.in

Contact Information:

Sandip University

Address: Trimbak Road, Mahiravani Village, Nashik, Maharashtra, India

Email: info@sandipuniversity.edu.in

Toll-free number: 1800-212-2714

Media Contact

Sandip University

info@sandipuniversity.edu.in 18002122714

Mahiravni Village, Trimbak Road

Source : Sandip University

See on IssueWire