

Australian Fitness Crusader, Kim Beach Gifts 2 Free Months of her Weight Loss Program for Women Everywhere

Women across the world now have full and free access to Australia's popular health program, Kim Beach Life, which features at home workouts, tailored eating plans, recipes and access to the Kim Beach Life community.

Sydney, Mar 31, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Today, Australian fitness leader, Kim Beach announced she will give away two months of free and full access to her Kim Beach Life app and health program to all new subscribers. Inspired by the generosity and kindness from her community, this initiative is vital to Kim's mission to empower women through their health and fitness journey.

"Last Sunday, my husband John and I were driving back to Sydney talking about how we could help people deal with these extremely challenging circumstances," says Kim Beach. "I realised free access to Kim Beach could help so many people – no matter where they are."

This exciting initiative provides women with free and full access to 800+ sustainable and tailored eating plans, daily home training programs, 7-day a week access to support from qualified fitness professionals and access to Kim's global online community. This offer valued at $39.98 RRP is only available for a limited time.

Current Kim Beach Life members such as Janine Manera strongly support this initiative. "I think this is such a great idea because our online group [Kim's Crew] is so supportive, it's really encouraging in these isolating circumstances," Janine says. "Plus, her program works – mentally and physically. It's actually sustainable, which helps in the long run."

Kim Beach explains why she made the choice to share this offer with women across the world. "I truly hope this helps women and their families stay fit and healthy during these uncertain times," she says. "I have dedicated my professional life to helping women achieve their weight loss and fitness goals. Everything I have learned along the way is packed into my app."
