Folk Artist, Shayna Adler, is Releasing Her Single “The Wick’s Escaped The Wax” On March 6th 2020

Los Angeles, Mar 5, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Shayna Adler is going to release her single called “The Wick’s Escaped the Wax on March 6th, 2020 to Apple Music, iTunes, Spotify, Google Music, iHeartRadio, Amazon Music, and other digital platforms. This song is a splendid Bluegrass-inspired track that has rich harmonies, soaring fiddle, and foot-stomping banjo. Fans are as excited for this indie take on traditional bluegrass music, featuring hi-fi production and the distinctive and intimate vocals of Shayna.

Producer Michael Dumas says “For people who love Grassroots music, this song feels both lovingly familiar and refreshing.” It will be premiered on Forest FM in Dorset, England, and your favorite NPR Americana radio stations. So we urge you to mark the date (6th of March 2020) on your calendar.”

About Shayna:
Shayna is a cinematic Folk Artist, from Long Beach, California, with a flair for storytelling and creating whimsically illustrated music from her imagination. She is currently working on her first full-length studio album with veteran Producer/Engineer Michael Dumas at Horse Latitudes Studios in Glendale, California.

For more information, visit https://shayna.world/

Media Contact:
Shayna Adler
Email: management@shayna.world

Media Contact

Shayna Adler

management@shayna.world

Source : Shayna Adler

See on IssueWire