Family medicine is a medical specialty devoted to comprehensive health care for people of all ages. The specialist is called a family physician or family doctor. A family physician is often the first person a patient sees when seeking healthcare services. They examine and treat patients with a wide range of conditions and refer those with serious ailments to a specialist or appropriate facility.

Among her philanthropic endeavours, Dr. Ruff is a supporter of Good Samaritans Health Services, which is a resident-run free mobile clinic dedicated to serving the uninsured/underinsured population in Tulsa.

In her personal life, Dr. Ruff is married with four children. She enjoys a variety of outdoor activities including biking, hiking, skiing and camping, as well as going to church and spending time with family and friends.
