Furthermore, Meridian Market Consultants (MMC) Study identifies that specific populations such as contact sport athletes, victims of domestic violence, military personnel etc. are at the high risk for suffering mild traumatic brain injuries. Treatment for mild traumatic brain injury generally includes symptomatic treatment such as for headaches. Pain relievers such as NSAIDs are prescribed to alleviate pain. Diuretics such as hydrochlorothiazide, torsemide etc. are given to mild traumatic brain injury patients to reduce the number of body fluids which reduces pressure inside the brain. People with moderate to severe traumatic brain injury are at the risk of seizures. An anti-seizure drug may be given during the first week to avoid any additional brain damage that might be caused by a seizure. Sometimes coma-inducing drugs such as benzodiazepines are given to the patients of mild traumatic brain injury to relieve pressure on the brain. A comatose brain needs less oxygen to function and this is helpful blood vessels are unable to supply brain cells with nutrients and oxygen.

MMC Study identifies some of the key participating players in mild traumatic brain injury treatment market globally are Sanis Health Inc., Zydus Pharmaceuticals Usa, Inc., Aurobindo Pharma, Cardinal Health, Pfizer Inc., Apotex Corporation, Mylan Institutional Inc., Hoffman La Roche, Valeant Pharmaceuticals, Sandoz (Novartis) etc, among others.
