New York City, Mar 18, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Licensed and certified acupuncturist, Dr. Andrade, is the Founder of Natural Integrated Medicine in New Jersey. With a passion for helping others reach their optimal health, he specializes and excels in natural, drug-free solutions for neurological disorders, immune disorders, chronic and acute pain, endocrine disorders, and pediatric disorders. His philosophy is to treat the individual first and the disease second through a blend of modern, cutting-edge nutritional supplementation along with the ancient healing tradition of Chinese Herbal Medicine and Acupuncture.

“My original interest in medicine stems from studying martial arts my entire life. I have been studying Japanese martial arts at the Wind School of Isshin Kempo for over 30 years. I have also trained the Afro-

Brazilian art of Capoeira for 16 years. My martial arts career has really given me a unique perspective on movement analysis and physiology, as well as an appreciation for whole-being wellness and lasting health.” as stated by the doctor.

On the subject of his educational background, Dr. Andrade attended Hamilton College in New York and graduated with a Bachelors of Arts degree in Chinese and Physics. He decided to continue his education, graduating with a Master of Science degree in Traditional Oriental Medicine from the Pacific College of Oriental Medicine in New York City. He also earned his Doctorate in Acupuncture and Chinese Medicine from Pacific College of Health and Science - San Diego.

After obtaining his degrees, he completed numerous advanced training courses, including training in Classical Chinese Medical QiGong by Ken Andes LAc; training from Dr. Sankar Mohanaselvan, MBBS, DAc, of Sujok Academy of Acupuncture in Chennai, India; training directly under Dr. George Gonzalez in Los Angeles, CA, creator of Quantum Neurology, a method of nervous system rehabilitation; studying nutrition with Dr. Michael Dobbins, DC; becoming certified in Battlefield Acupuncture by Dr. John Howard LAc.; becoming certified in Nutritional and Herbal Detoxification by Dr. Robert Morse; and training directly under Dr. Freddie Ulan DC, CCN, Dr. Lori Puskar, DC, and Dr. Brad Kristiansen, DC, in Clearwater, Florida.

The doctor is certified through the National Certification Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine, a non-profit organization in the United States that aims to “establish, assess, and promote recognized standards of competence and safety in acupuncture and Oriental medicine for the protection and benefit of the public.”

An advocate for patient education, Dr. Andrade makes sure that the knowledge of good health gets passed on to others so that they may take responsibility for their own health and reclaim their youth and vitality. He attributes his success to providing quality patient care, helping his patients lead a healthier life, always learning and continuing his education, as well as having the right technological tools.

Acupuncture is a form of alternative medicine and a key component of Traditional Chinese Medicine in which thin needles are inserted into the body. The practice is also used to maintain general health. Acupuncturists treat a variety of physical and psychological issues like internal medicine hypertension or anxiety.

Outside of the office, Dr. Andrade enjoys spending time with his family. His favorite professional publications are acupuncture/holistic wellness research and publications.
