Rudhrah Keshav a young entrepreneur who is creating strong waves in the digital media world

Rudhrah Keshav a young entrepreneur who is creating strong waves in the digital media world and surfing them successfully!

father Satish Sharma and mother Mukesh Sharma their son Rudhrah Keshav at a very young age decided to set out on a surfboard marked with his passion, enthusiasm and expertise to venture into the vast ocean of digital marketing as a career option.

The deep and huge expanse of digital marketing was already brimming with reputed and established names and companies. For any youngster, not backed by age or experience, it would have been an easy option to sink into its depths fail and give up. On the other hand, as a second option, if you had to stay afloat and make good progress you had to do some quick thinking and use your dexterity and skill. For Rudhrah Keshav who was known for his go-getter attitude and for not giving up on anything that he embarked upon, the second option was an obvious choice.

He was compensated for the lack of financial support and experience in biological years, with an abundance of his parents' blessings, their unconditional support and his own skills.

In a short span and at a very young age he went on to establish Mwoop online shopping, a company that spells success and today Rudhrah Keshav's name ranks in the list of top digital marketers in the country.

Rudhrah Keshav cherished the lessons that he had learned during his life and career till date and makes it a conscious habit to impart that knowledge and guidance to his younger brother Rudhrah Gourav who understandably enough looks up to his elder brother as a role model.

The success story of Rudhrah Keshav amply demonstrates how a young boy from Punjab with humble beginnings armed with his parents' blessings and a desire to succeed can brave all odds, weather all storms and emerge strong and steady riding the huge waves of success that ensue thereafter!
