

Viktory Now! puts a spin on Remote Learning during COVID-19 pandemic

ViKtory Now is offering a free remote or distance education platform to assist with remote or distance learning.

Pittsburgh, Mar 26, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - In light of the Coronavirus pandemic, school owners and operators are scrambling to figure out a way to interact and continue educating their students remotely. To that end, CEO of Viktory Now Jason London states, "In a time of such high emotional tension and a void in technology to engage students remotely, we wanted to provision any institution a free install of the Viktory Now's the mobile app. What makes Viktory Now so unique is that it not only can our platform deliver curriculum, quizzes and other school-related content, it can be done using gamification. Leveraging games, leader boards and a reward platform allow the students to be engaged with a heightened focus on making staying at home fun".

Viktory Now's student engagement app provides these key features:

1. Teachers can create quizzes/polls to push out to students' mobile devices. Viktory Now! uses gamification with leaderboards and rewards to make these activities engaging and exciting during these stay at home days.

2. Teachers are able to push videos of lectures to students.

3. Students earn points for completing assignments and activities.

Chief Operating Officer of ViKtory Now!, Zack Lesak expressed, “we’re currently seeing the landscape of the world as we know it shifts. The solely brick and mortar schools are having to use Zoom conferences or Google Hangouts for lectures; we can offer something that is completely different, and fun. Students and instructors are practicing social distancing. We understand that some students need to learn with hands-on learning, and our platform can assist. We want to lessen the blow and the pain points for these modalities that are occurring because of the COVID-19 pandemic”.

ViKtory Now! is offering free implementation of the mobile app to those schools in need. Please visit <http://www.viktorynow.com> for more information or call 847-848-5168

Media Contact

ViKtory Now!

jason@klassapp.com

847-848-5168

Source : ViKtory Now!

See on IssueWire