Egypt kicked her sewing skills into gear as soon as she heard that there was a shortage of masks and protective gear for

Egypt's journey began after being bullied. She channeled her pain into fashion and turned a negative into a positive then becoming the youngest designer to present an all-inclusive fashion line at NYFW at the age of ten. Up-to-date, Egypt shipped 1000s of custom made masks and bonnets across the nation and the orders are still coming in. Then she heard that the Landsdale Nursing Home in Philadelphia had no protective gear at all. She immediately got to work and delivered the custom gear and treated the weary staff to lunch.
