

A look back at NYFW and PFW with RMA Pre-Covid 19

Houston models: Hardly home but always repping.

Houston, May 1, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - From NYFW to PFW, two emerging models represented by Houston's Revalushion Management Agency have taken this year's fashion season by storm by participating in numerous shows.

Elodie Tusac (IG: @elodietusac) and Jonah Manzi (IG: @manziconnie) started the season off in New York. Elodie executed her deliverance in a gold edgy cheetah print mini dress with shoulder cutouts designed by Alexandra Popescu-York (pictured top right). Seen above on the left is Jonah pictured in a perfectly fitted suit designed by Henry Coffie of Henry Couture Paris (picture top left). While in New York, Elodie also walked for the following designers: Ekaye, Nyonuvi, Kallee Jackson, Glenkora Comte, and Heritage India Fashions. The designers were from all around the world. Elodie reflected the beauty of the printed dress she wore as she walked in Nyonuvi's feminine collection inspired by her African roots (picture bottom right). While in Paris, Jonah made his Paris Fashion Week debut walking for the Christopher Korey Collection in a checkered suit (pictured bottom left).

It was a successful season for all. There is much more these two can bring to the table. Keep an eye out for the next endeavors Elodie Tusac and Jonah Manzi partake in.
