

California Pop Singer Katelyn McFadden's Emotional Modulations in 'Too Many Emotions' is Poignant

The creative virtues and vocal harmonics in California pop singer Katelyn McFadden's newly released song, 'Too Many Emotions' is a beautiful transcendence.

California City, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - Upcoming music artist Katelyn McFadden is taking the world by storm with her undulating vocal control and emotional dynamics that have given contemporary pop a whole new edge. She might be just starting with her career but just within a short span has made considerable waves across the spectrum of music. She recently came out with her single, 'Too Many Emotions', a sentimental journey that puts together thematic significance and musical virtues in one line of progression. Her song is a beautiful composition of harmonics playing through its entirety and the artist is effortless in her ability to turn this song into her own. As her prowess pushes her to hit the pitch-perfect notes, it is as if she is singing right from her heart.

The traces of contemporary pop has gone through considerable changes over the years and the present rendition has been accurately utilized by this California pop singer. The extensive range of her voice is so blissful and strong that the song, 'Too Many Emotions' emerges as an unparalleled lyrical journey of thematic purposes. The song has been made in association with production house Parimore Entertainment that has given her the platform, exposure, and representation of showcasing her work before the world. Back in 2018, she set up a Kickstarter to raise money for realizing a music video and her first album showing conviction and unparalleled passion towards music. A singer and songwriter who is on her way to emerge as a breakthrough artist very soon also runs a popular TikTok and Instagram profile with a whopping 55,000 followers on the latter.

Although it is just the start to a journey to the top, Katelyn McFadden remains humble in her ways and her music speaks a thousand words of her commitment to music. A singer and songwriter, her emotional depth and degrees in her songs touch hearts instantly. She has been a part of the 2019 Lights Out tour and World Of Dance November 2019 that expanded her exposure to the creative world furthermore. To experience the essence of modern-day pop written with the best emotional stance, follow her on YouTube, Instagram, and TikTok right away.

Enjoy the music video:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CxVSsdLwXWM>

Media Contact

Music Promotion Club

info@musicpromotion.club

Source : Katelyn McFadden Parimore Entertainment

See on IssueWire