

Chef Chicago Limo Is Taking Extra Precautions To Prevent The Spread Of Covid-19 While Being Open For Business

Chicago limo company operates under strict coronavirus travel guidelines to keep their passengers safe.

Chicago, Apr 22, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - The current global pandemic has hurt travel so bad that most of the aeroplanes are grounded. Chief Chicago Limo is a company whose business almost reached bottom because of the Coronavirus. However, they are doing their best to stay open for business and take care of their clients' health. In order to do that, the company is enforcing strict measures to prevent the spread of the virus.

Limos now need to be cleaned and disinfected twice before and after each ride. The most frequently touched surfaces are thoroughly inspected. Door handles, control buttons, etc, are the riskiest areas for the spread of the virus and require extra attention.

Rides are scheduled every 3 hours. This way a chauffeur will have enough time to clean the car and get it ready for the next trip. Limos rides are with 2 of their windows slightly opened to increase air circulation. Clients must use the provided hand sanitizers before they board the limousines.

No handshaking is allowed with clients. Reasonable distance must be kept between limo drivers and clients and conversations must be brought to a minimum. Clients are advised not to touch anything in the car. For example, if they want the A/C adjusted or the windows closed- they should ask the driver to do it for them.

Some of the amenities are not available- gums, snacks, mints etc. Water bottles are disinfected beforehand so they are safe to use.

Those measures will be in effect until the government decides to lift the stay-at-home advisories and resume normal operations.

Chief Chicago Limo is a top-rated local limo company on TripAdvisor and Google. Sedans, SUVs, Stretch limos and VANS are still available upon request. Limo rentals can be booked online at www.chiefchicagolimo.com. The booking tool allows you to get instant quotes saving you time and avoiding errors. Their chauffeurs are some of the most professional and friendly in the industry. Besides the Chicago airport limo service, the company also provides long distance limo services at reasonable rates.
