West Midlands, Apr 14, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Absolute Interpreting and Translations Ltd has been offering free COVID-19 related translation services for all of their NHS Trust and Local Authority clients across the United Kingdom.

What Does Absolute Mean By Free COVID-19 Related Translations?

Absolute Interpreting and Translations Ltd, a successful interpreting and translations service provider based in Birmingham with offices in London and Manchester, has realized that there is currently a wealth of COVID-19 related information, for example, leaflets, and posters, that necessitate urgent translation. The NHS and Local Authorities are constantly producing and dispersing relevant information leaflets regarding how to protect oneself during this devastating pandemic.

The Management of Absolute Interpreting and Translations Group Ltd, want to heavily participate in the combat against this global virus by supporting the NHS and Local Authorities. They are achieving this by ensuring that COVID-19 related information is made accessible to the many non-English speaking communities residing across the UK. Absolute is, therefore, proud and dedicated to translating, free of charge, all COVID-19 related information sources produced by the NHS and Local Authorities. Ts & Cs apply.

Why Did Absolute Decide To Offer This Free Service?

There are a number of key reasons for why Absolute has decided to offer this free service.

Supporting the NHS and Local Authorities

Absolute Interpreting and Translations Ltd acknowledges the hard work exerted by the NHS and Local Authorities during these precarious times. Their services are, now, more crucial than ever in terms of enabling communities to continue running smoothly despite the threat of the virus. As an approved and recognized language service provider for various NHS Trusts and Local Authorities, Absolute Interpreting and Translations Ltd wants to help their clients in the delivery of their pivotal civil and national responsibilities. Absolute's objective is in line with that of the NHS and Local Authorities, and that is to essentially protect patients and our communities.

Core Values

Additionally, one of Absolute Interpreting and Translations' core values concerns accessibility. The Management of Absolute, along with their team of dedicated professional translators, find it significant to support the NHS and Local Authorities especially when every little helps in these difficult times.

Absolute believes that everyone, regardless of the languages that they may speak, deserves the right of having access to life-saving information. With the NHS's and Local Authorities' guidelines translated into various languages, Absolute hopes that this will give all non-English speakers the confidence to take the necessary steps in protecting themselves against this life-threatening virus. Essentially, Absolute believes that offering this free translation service may help the NHS and Local Authorities to potentially save a great number of precious lives.
