Address cracks in the foundation as quickly as possible. Cracks can be of two types: hairline cracks or horizontal cracks. Of the two, horizontal cracks are more severe. Whether minor or significant, the cracks need to be taken care of promptly. Foundation repair is not a DIY job. Homeowners need to get in touch with a company like Kent Foundation Repair for foundation repair in Cleveland, Ohio.

Homeowners should not ignore cracks in the foundation. So, consulting an expert in foundation repair in Cleveland, Ohio, like Kent Foundation Repair is necessary. Experts treat hairline cracks by using polyurethane or latex concrete caulk as well as hydraulic cement. The experts also suggest the use of Epoxy injections to seal the cracks as Epoxy is lightweight and waterproof, and can seal the cracks permanently.

According to the experts, address hairline cracks, but immediately seek help for horizontal cracks. These cracks are better not to handle on their own. It is best to rely on Kent Foundation repair for professional assistance. Residential properties that have poured concrete foundations or concrete brick and block foundations are prone to developing horizontal cracks. The horizontal cracks result from soil pressure, hydrostatic pressure. These can cause the basement walls to bow. Kent Foundation Repair advises on extensive repairs for reinforcing the foundation for securing the same from severe damage.
