

Necoya Tyson of All About You Event Management Motivates Other Event Planners During the Economic Crunch

Virginia, May 2, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - With the ongoing pandemic that has grasped the global population in a functional standstill, the hospitality industry is also facing the collateral of zero business prospects. Necoya Tyson, owner of All About You Event Management is putting forward her words of wisdom for all those independent event planners in staying afloat while the industry has come to a halt. She is a celebrated event planner who is utilizing this time of uncertainty to help people find optimism and hope in the days to come. The virus scare has most of the world population in mandatory quarantine which has resulted in the cancellation and reschedules of many events.

With hundreds of canceled projects, Necoya has extended her helping hand through the virtual medium to reach out to all the independent event planners in an attempt to motivate them by coordinating tips and advice of utilizing this time at home. After the period of social distancing is over, Necoya has planned a four-city tour of her event, 'mornings are for mimosa' that kicks off in Orlando in August.

Media Contact

All About You Events

aayouevents@gmail.com

Source : All About You Events

See on IssueWire