Welcome to Peace of mind

Bengaluru, May 4, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Now, an acclaimed assistant to assist your employees work better

Club Concierge is excited to announce the launch of Essential Concierge, an affordable, user-friendly, 24/7 personal assistant service, to help employees work from home better. Apart from the usual professional responsibilities, these employees are also burdened with personal and domestic chores.

Their to-do lists are bursting with tasks, too many to handle in a day and too difficult to accommodate along with the existing professional commitments. This can be tiresome for them and detrimental to a company's productivity.

While working from home sounds like a convenient option for the employee, as they can save on travel time and work from the comfort of their home. But the emerging truth is that everything about the lockdown is not a song and dance. Their to-do lists are bursting with tasks, too many to handle in a day and too difficult to accommodate along with the existing professional commitments. Club Concierge believes the Essential Concierge will help employees be more focussed now, taking all the leg work out of the personal to-do lists, enabling companies to now manage more productive, happier and far more stress-free employees.

Most of these tasks are mundane and 'everyday' in nature. Essential Concierge is a unique service that is just right for these times. It provides the employee with a personal assistant to take care of their errands, not just within the city but across the country. The service is offered by Club Concierge, an award-winning engagement specialist headquartered in Bangalore. What makes this service distinct is an unlimited bouquet of services, personalization and 24x7 accessibility. It could be as diverse as ordering a roti maker, gaining access to an online kickboxing masterclass or delivering a diabetes medication to a parent in Baroda. The range is broad and the list of services is ... almost endless.

Another major highlight of Essential Concierge is its affordability. The subscription fee per employee is a nominal amount. And each task expense will be charged on actuals only plus the delivery cost. In short, Essential Concierge offers its clients a win-win business model. Club Concierge has made it affordable and reachable to all with this unique package. Dipali Sikand, CEO had this to say about Essential Concierge: "We are all going through testing times, and we believe it is our duty to help each other with the expertise we have. Our expertise lies in personalized concierge service. We are offering it at a nominal cost because, with the lockdown and the social distancing, the service we offer is not really a luxury; it's a necessity for many. Take the case of the work-from-home employees who're having a tough time juggling professional and personal responsibilities."

The service is extremely user-friendly. No separate app download is required. The member can access it through call or WhatsApp message. As soon as the request is placed, the personal assistant will initiate the task.

But then, Essential Concierge is not limited to just corporate employees. Club Concierge offers the same service to residential societies and allocates a personal assistant to each family. The service will be delivered through the respective Residents Welfare Association. Also, the company is planning to extend its expertise to clubs, delivering food orders to its members. This is expected to take-off soon.
