

ONEflight International Private Jets CEO incentivizes employees with cash to donate blood.

It's the blood pulsing within each of us.

Denver, Apr 29, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - ONEflight International Private Jets CEO incentivizes employees with cash to donate blood.

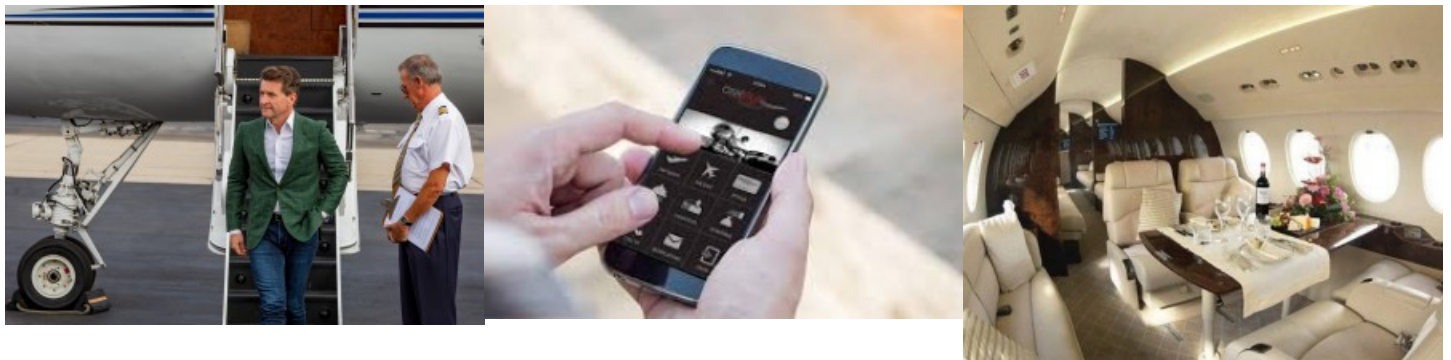

- Ferren Rajput, CEO of ONEflight International recognizing this need donated blood today and is encouraging his staff to do the same. If employees choose to donate blood, they will be incentivized $100 cash in return for helping to fight the pandemic.
- In communicating this to his staff today, over 90% agreed to participate in this COVID blood drive within minutes of the announcement.
- As part of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's ongoing commitment to fighting the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, the agency issued guidance for immediate implementation to address the urgent and immediate need for blood and blood components
- Vitalant - What do we all have in common that instantly connects us and gives us the power to do more? It's the blood pulsing within each of us. This amazing, ever-replenishing gift is truly a natural resource that, when shared, speeds healing and provides comfort. Lifesaving blood offers second chances and many tomorrows to those who depend on it. Your simple, lifesaving action today has the remarkable power to transform lives for many tomorrows. We are grateful you are in our community and we are inspired by your decision to help others.

In a recent communication with his staff, Rajput stated, “Currently there is a huge shortage of much-needed blood in this country. I will be the first to donate blood at the Vitalant Center in Parker Colorado today. I would like everyone to join me in the effort to give back to those in need, in return I will reward each employee that joins me with $100.”
