

Producer Philippe Funk fuses creative brilliance with professionalism in his tracks

Philippe Funk has offered the audience with the most exquisite ingredients of the EDM genre. His musical charm has cast a bewitching spell over the music industry.

Luxembourg, Apr 17, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - The Luxembourg-based music producer, Philippe Funk has been rocking the EDM and tech house genre for some years now. His undeniably supreme artistry and skills have earned a huge following across the global music industry. Having played the drums for 20 years in a wide range of styles, from metal bands to classical orchestras, the artist is now on the summit of his music production career. Starting his career in 2003, the artist has grown in confidence, talent, and professionalism, with each passing day. But it was in 2016, when he stopped playing bands and started focusing more on electronic music production, and presented the audience with something they have been craving for so long.

Through his first single, 'Energy', he showcased his promising talent and potential of making it big in the industry. It was literally an energetic outburst of the musical ingredients. Taking his musicianship to a higher level, the musical projects 'Native Symbiosis' and 'King of Fresh' went on to establish his versatile creativity as a music producer. And, now Philippe Funk is all set to rock the music scene with his single release 'Emotions in motion', out now. Have a listen to his masterpiece on Spotify and all other major streaming platforms.
