XDC is the native digital currency of the XinFin Hybrid Blockchain Network, an open-source public blockchain network that offers stable coin/token creation, smart contracts and document storage. XinFin has released a swappable ERC20 token version under the ticker — XDCE. The XDCE token will largely be for traders to compete against other ERC20 tokens across exchange boards. This would make XinFin's reach more versatile in the open Crypto Market. Traders can also swap the XDCE tokens with the standard XDC token.
