

Broadway Babysitters Look to Spread Joy with Upcoming Beetlejuice Event

The arts-based babysitting service has taken their services virtual, delivering fun and inclusive musical performances to engage children in their homes

New York City, May 19, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Broadway Babysitters, an arts-based babysitting service in New York City, has announced its upcoming Beetlejuice online event for children. The interactive Zoom event featuring a wide range of fun and activities will take place on May 27. The virtual event has activities designed for children of all ages.

Broadway Babysitters was created by and is co-owned by Broadway actors, Vasthy Mompont and Jennifer Malenke. Normally, the group provides in-home babysitting services for families across New York City. But with the COVID pandemic temporarily halting their services, the group has pivoted in a creative way to achieve their mission of bringing joy to children.

The group's virtual events efforts, dubbed the Broadways Babysitters Playhouse, delivers pay-what-you-can virtual creativity courses with Broadway performers and stars, bringing the excitement of Broadway into homes across the nation.

The May 27 Beetlejuice event will be hosted by Mompont and feature an interactive question and answer session via Zoom with Alex Brightman, star of the Broadway production of "Beetlejuice;" a dance party with choreographer Conner Gallagher; and more. The Q&A session is recommended for children 13 and up and the dance parties and other activities are designed for children aged 2 through 12. A suggested donation of $10 is encouraged for attending.

Past productions by the group have featured an exciting lineup of stars, including Tituss Burgess (“Kimmy Schmidt”), Carly Hughes (“American Housewife”) and Gabrielle Ruiz (“Crazy Ex-Girlfriend”). Additional Broadway stars from “Hamilton,” “Jagged Little Pill,” “SpongeBob Square Pants,” “Mean Girls,” “The Prom,” and more have also made appearances.

Proceeds from the Playhouse’s events are given to the Parent Artist Advocacy League, a non-profit that works hard to create a relief fund for artists’ parents. The additional portion goes to keeping the small business’ doors open.

To learn more about Broadway Babysitters and their upcoming Beetlejuice event, visit them on the web at <https://www.broadwaybabysitters.com/playhouse/> or on Instagram at @bwaybabysitters.

About Broadway Babysitters

Broadway Babysitters is an arts-based babysitting service in NYC started by Broadway actresses Vasthy Mompount and Jennifer Malenke. The referral-only babysitting service offers unique, specialized care to children that focus on the love of art and music. Professional artists, actors, and dancers staff the team, and all sitters are background checked, CPR trained, and attend workshops for caring for children with special needs. To learn more, visit

Media Contact

Broadway Babysitters

press@broadwaybabysitters.com

929-256-3550

Source : Broadway Babysitters

See on IssueWire