Our mission-

Customer care record aims to stop fraud with Internet Users. We research & found Seamstress thinks of new ideas each day to wipe out money from bank accounts.

Now, they have come up with a new technique to cheat people who use the Google search. This fraud does not take place due to hacking or vulnerability vis-a-vis Google. Fraudsters post their numbers as customer care numbers of various companies and banks online. When you search for the customer care helpline number of any company, these numbers will come up on Google. If you call up these numbers, fraudsters will pick up the call and introduce themselves as customer support executives. In order to resolve the issue, you will be asked to provide personal banking details. If you provide this information, it will be used to wipe out money from your bank account.

Customercarerecord.com introduces the record's that embrace the hottest information from across the globe. Whether stepping into a
