

Dr. Taunya Lowe releases Bhangology, CBD Membership Community...

bhangology

Duluth, May 14, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Taunya Lowe, Ph.D., Professional Development Consultant, Executive Coach, Author and Speaker steps into new territory as a Cannabis Educator and Consultant with the Founding Member launch of Bhangology.

Lowe, describes Bhangology as a CBD Education and Wellness Community. She states that Bhangology is the only CBD education community you will ever need. “The Bhangology community is a place where people can learn, grow, explore and shop together in a safe environment exploring safe products”.

Bhangology was designed specifically for people who experience pain, anxiety, and sleep issues and are interested in a natural approach to managing these issues. It is also the perfect place for someone who is totally unfamiliar with CBD and cannabis health properties like I was. Although all are welcome, Bhangology is not a “stoner” community or a community for people who are looking for a “high”, Bhangology is focused on health and wellness.

Bhangology was created out of my personal challenges with sciatica. “Someone suggested CBD to me 3 years ago, but at the time I was totally unaware of what CBD was and like many people thought CBD was the same as THC. I just did not know”. There was no education or explanation just a push to buy the oil. The next year, I played in a 4/20 golf tournament and there were doctors and advocates providing information on what CBD was and was not; this piqued my interest. I still did not try my first CBD product until almost 2 years later. It wasn't a tincture; it was a topical massage oil and it provided great relief. I also share some with a friend who is challenged with lupus pain and she found it to be magical as well. I later learned that all CBD products are not created equally after trying a tincture I ordered on Amazon. I had a bad reaction and was informed about the quality and that Amazon was probably not the best place to purchase oils. Again, I just did not know.

I was starting my journey and I knew there were people that were on the same journey as myself who wanted a non-pharmaceutical remedy to their issue as well.

Here we are almost four years later Bhangology is born. The internet can be a big scary place overrun with information. You do not know what or who to believe. I want to be your guide! Bhangology is now the place to learn all things CBD; terminology, dosing, strains, experts and opportunities and uses for cannabis. The membership will provide all of this and more. This is just the beginning!

My vision for Bhangology is to grow the community and grow the membership. To make Bhangology the only CBD community a person will ever need for education and products. Although we aren't offering products at this time, a product line is in the works. Creating affiliates, and who knows maybe our own multi-level marketing company (MLM) but for now, education and the cool merchandise. As I said, this is just the beginning!

We are seeking 100 Founding Members to join us on this journey. Founding Members will receive a founding members lapel pin, discounts on products and merchandise, and Founding Members will be featured in The Bhang Report our quarterly E-magazine. Founding Members will also “be the first to know” through our Bhangology Secret Membership Channel and Facebook Members only group.

To learn more about becoming a founding member contact Dr. Taunya Lowe by email bhangology20@gmail.com

Also be sure to connect with the Bhangology community on Facebook <https://www.facebook.com/bhangologypage/>

and Instagram <https://www.instagram.com/bhangology>

bhangology

Media Contact

Dr. Taunya Lowe, Bhangology Founder

bhangology20@gmail.com

672-451-4259

3675 Crestwood Parkway , Suite 400

Source : Bhangology

See on IssueWire