

Gizzle Y.B.F.R. continues in her disruptive mission as she drops a new single

Gotta get it

Atlanta, May 15, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Talented American songwriter, rapper of Smokey Eyes Entertainment, Gizzle Y.B.F.R, drops "Gotta get it" as a follow up to her hugely anticipated debut single "from da Bottom"

Gizzle Y.B.F.R, otherwise known as Gizzle Y.B.F.R has been described as a "special gift" to the music industry. Signed on to one of the greatest music production teams in the land, Channing Smith has been able to carve a niche for herself in a relatively short while, stripping away music's artifice while keeping true to its giddiness and excitement.

The music industry has undoubtedly evolved over the years as different stakeholders and creative minds such as music producers, record labels, and musicians contributing their quota. Unfortunately, the rap game seems to have lost some of the features that gave it the glory many of the artists currently enjoy. With many rap songs available today seemingly lacking "content" that made the world fall in love with the music genre, it has become imperative for stakeholders in the industry to bring back the lost glory of the rap culture. This is where artists like Gizzle Y.B.F.R are looking to make a difference as she continues her quest of taking the rap game and of course, the hip hop community to a whole new level.

Her debut single titled "From Da Bottom" was an ideal stepping stone and introduction to the industry on a big stage with the song receiving accolades from different quarters. In a similar vein, she has released "Gotta get it," and treats her fans to an amazing blend of fantastic wordplay and great punchlines.

Influenced by the likes of Tupac, Left Eye, Ludacris, and Missy Elliott, Gizzle Y.B.F.R has been able to defy all odds to somewhat set a standard in the industry. The talented rapper has fashioned a sensational, fizzing debut, a blue-chip Hip Hop single which can sit proudly on a global stage next to Megan Thee Stallion, Saweety, Cardi B and whatever hip hop artist male or female in 2020.

"Gotta get it" was written in line with Gizzle's goal of using music as a channel to pass a message of positivity of the absolute struggle that we as women of all colors, ages and sexual orientations face just to have a say in the world in which we live. The calling card of "Gotta get it" is the brusque, street charm that hides in plain sight among its hooky gloss, and anchors the single's core theme of expectations "I want to send a positive message to everyone that's going to listen to it. I've gained so much confidence from writing this song and that's what I want people to take away," said Gizzle Y.B.F.R aka Gizzle Badazz.

Gizzle's talent, passion, and dedication to making good music have been recognized by major players in the industry. "A richness and honest that sets her out," said Lynette Tubbs-Smith, CEO of Smokey Eyes Entertainment.

"Gotta get it", "From da Bottom" and other projects from Gizzle and the entire team of Smokey Eyes Entertainment are currently available across several digital platforms, including iTunes, Amazon Music, Tidal, Apple Music, and Deezer, Pandora and YouTube among-st many many more.
