

BitNewsBot Upgrades To New Faster Servers And Revamps Its Website Design

Nicosia District, Jun 6, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Bitnewsbot, the leading website specializing in cryptocurrencies blog writing, revamps its website to provide users with an enriched and improved experience. The redesigned user-friendly interface and refined search options help users to achieve easier navigation making it at the same time more convenient to sort out articles. Additionally, the website has incorporated the "infinite scrolling" feature that elevates user and reading experience even further.

For an easier flow of the information found on Bitnewsbot, all articles are made to appear in a reading friendly way. Most popular articles appear on the top, while Editors Pick and Must-Read articles emerge at the bottom. Redesign of the site also includes the addition of a Review Section so that people can witness the most accurate and authentic statements on various products or brands. De-cluttering of the website imparts much more singularity and order in the outlook of the pages.

To counter the delaying factor and slow response service the website has been migrated to a new faster server and a CDN (Content Delivery Network) service has been acquired to make the website run much faster.

"The website has been redesigned in such a way to help readers find the most popular content from our website right from the homepage. Also, we've applied a news-type modern theme that has changed the appearance of the website drastically while at the same time uplifting our website's brand," explains the Web Design Team.

Bitnewsbot subdivides the content into Guides, News, and Blog. A tab on the main menu that prompts users to submit their own content has been added in an effort to increase quality user-generated content. A tools section has also been added where users can see the market cap of all cryptocurrencies in existence as well as crypto calculators and crypto charts.

Under the Guides menu, one can find their popular how-to guides on hot topics like how to buy VPS hosting with bitcoin or VPN services that accept cryptocurrencies to name a few. The section of News deals with the latest updates of the industry, and Blog serves the purpose to pitch Reviews, Infographics, and Opinions on various topics. As crypto-currencies are gaining ground in global economics, thorough literature is needed to provide in-depth insight and analysis to educate the masses, and in this mission, Bitnewsbot is surely on the forefront.
