Cheyenne, Wyoming Jan 25, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - In today's troubled times, customers are looking for DIY solutions to problems that would have previously required a costly visit from an expert. One world-famous company is now making its groundbreaking waste treatment products available to customers on Amazon.

Bio-Safe One has been a leading name in the development and production of septic system clearance products for decades. Backed by more than 65 years of research and development, the company supplies major industries around the world with the safest, most technologically advanced formula of bacteria, enzymes and other natural ingredients for septic and grease trap systems.

The company's highly regarded team of scientists worked on the huge Exxon Valdez oil spill in Alaska in 1989, and by 2002 Bio-Safe One's products were available to be purchased wholesale. Now, Bio-Safe One is partnering with Amazon to deliver inexpensive yet highly effective septic maintenance treatments direct to customers' doors.

Until now, the majority of septic system owners have mistakenly relied on costly pump-outs or ineffective products that break up sewage but fail to eliminate it. These products actually do more harm than good, removing good bacteria and pushing undigested waste into the soil, leading to further more expensive clogs. Serious septic problems ultimately lead to the total replacement of the septic system, costing anything between $10 and $70K. Thanks to Bio-Safe One's patented formula, customers are now able to have their septic problems completely reversed with no need for a middle man, saving thousands and putting the owner back in control.

The formula has been scientifically proven to be 100% effective, instantly disintegrating waste, removing odors and germs, while protecting water and indoor air quality without any need for harsh chemicals.

Bio-Safe One's products are suitable for a huge range of systems, including commercial tanks, restaurant grease traps, cruise ship holding tanks, hospital waste disposal, dog kennel waste disposal, camping sites, RV parks, and government municipal buildings.

These exclusive lab cultivated bacterial solutions are the strongest in the world and guaranteed to work in any system, delivering a range of benefits including:

- Cost and time savings – no expensive repairs
- Restored drainage
- Odor elimination
- Well protection
- No contamination
- Millions of times more effective than other products on the market

Preventive waste treatment company Bio-Safe One, Inc. the same company that helped clean up

America's largest cleanup in US history, the Exxon Valdez Oil Spill, has been gaining huge recognition for years now in the waste cleanup industry. Known for their excellent job in cleaning up the enormous 11 million gallons of oil and sewage on the beaches of Alaska, they have now become increasingly renowned for their amazing impact in the septic and waste industry with another new achievement.

The company's same patented formulas have been helping septic tank homeowners and commercial septic tank owners to solve all their septic tank and septic system problems. These unique patented formulas that were used in this enormous oil spill have now been helping septic tank owners in new and fantastic ways! Bio-Safe One's products historically were chosen by the government over all other products due to their highly technologically advanced patented formulas which are second to none in their powerful exponential bacteria growth and strength, especially their main potent product called the BIO-112 Heavy Sludge Digester, which contains patented strains of grease digesting bacteria which is the only way to completely get rid of and completely digest Bio-mat, a black tar-like, grease-like substance. This product they discovered completely eliminated septic and drain field failure due to its patented nature and commercial strength but yet they found it still safe to use in residential homes and commercial environments as well.

Their other main product the Bio-Safe One Septic Solution (B.O.S.S.) they created to be the most powerful septic maintenance product on the market. Both products have been doing amazing things for years now.

With new amazing technology, both products have been completely devouring sewage in all of its forms especially the BIO-112 which eats up completely the Bio-mat, and both products completely devour large amounts of sludge (hardened solid waste brown) in large amounts while decontaminating the environment. Sewage is toxic waste. When sewage is removed, the environment is decontaminated. The added benefit to this is that homeowners do not have to hire contractors to replace their system, at a cost of between $10,000 to $70,000, and do not have to continue to pay for unnecessary pump-outs.

Septic issues are common throughout the U.S. According to statistics, one out of every four Americans relies on a septic tank or septic system as a means of treating their household waste, which translates to over 77.5 million septic tank owners across the country.

And according to a company spokesperson, the majority of septic tank or septic system owners falsely rely on and regularly pay for unnecessary septic pump-outs and ultimately a very expensive septic replacement with a contractor when their system fails. Over the years according to this company official that many homeowners used weak cheap imitations that did nothing. But after using Bio-Safe One product they had amazing results in short amounts of time, in many cases immediate relief from septic smells, backups and total septic failure problems.

Bio-Safe One is the solution that has saved and continues to save people money. A fully functioning septic system eliminates 100% of the bad bacteria that cause smell and disease. Sewage contains over 100 different types of diseases and viruses. When a septic system fails it can lead to well failure, cause illness and create an unsanitary environment in the home. Bio-Safe One products decontaminate and remove sewage in large amounts in a short amount of time thus saving homeowners millions. People online have been raving about this for years now and it has reached the Amazon community and other forums with great success.

The company's products have been proven in thousands of cases to eliminate signs of failing septic systems including bad odors, gurgling sounds in pipes and plumbing, slow-moving drains, frequent pump-outs, discolored lawns, water overflowing from the drain fields and septic tanks. Bio-Safe One has been found to quickly reverse septic problems by eliminating the root cause of the septic tank problems: eliminating the accumulated waste in the soil surrounding the septic system which occurred from lack of proper septic tank maintenance.

With the use of Bio-Safe One products, septic tank homeowners can totally eliminate the need for pump-outs, along with the need to dig a new drain field.
