

NVision IT Awarded ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System Certification

Saint Louis, Jun 3, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - NVision IT, LLC is proud to announce its recent certification to the ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System. The ISO 9001:2015 certification allows NVision IT to prove its lasting commitment to delivering the best quality service to their customers with continual improvement. This certification also demonstrates the company's dedication to consistently provide services that meet customer and regulatory requirements.

NVision IT is a St. Louis, MO-based, 8(a) and minority-owned small business that specializes in providing quality information technology consulting services to federal agencies and private sector companies navigating complex enterprise transformations. As an Oracle-certified Gold Partner and AWS and Microsoft Partner, and the recipient of SBA's Technology Business of the Year Award, NVision IT utilizes modern technologies and Cloud solutions to take clients' strategic goals and incorporate them into efficient solutions. The highly qualified and expert team has worked with Fortune 500 companies, federal agencies, as well as the Department of Defense for the past 16 years. In addition to the new ISO 9001:2015 certification, NVision IT also holds SBA 8(a), MBE, and the Department of Transportation's DBE certifications.

CEO Venka Pulumati remarked, “We are excited to receive this certification as it reinforces NVision IT's commitment to quality and its customers. This is especially important in the business we are in where the success of the project implementation is entirely dependent on the quality of technical resources we provide.”
