

Seynd Launches Free Web Push Notification Plugin on WordPress

WordPress Users guaranteed 100% message delivery using Push Notifications

A blue banner for Seynd. On the left, the Seynd logo features a yellow bell icon with a '1' inside. Below the logo, the text reads: "Easiest, Most Automated Web Push Notifications", "No complicated and confusing packages to choose from.", and "ALL the features you'll ever need or want in only ONE plan!". On the right, there are illustrations of a desktop monitor, a tablet, and a smartphone, each displaying a different web push notification. The desktop notification says "Hello Jane, That dress you were looking at is now on sale for the next hour! This is a limited stock item, hurry and buy it now! Add to Cart YourStore.com". The tablet notification says "Hello John, Download your ebook 'Your ebook is ready, download it now.' eBook.com". The smartphone notification says "The meeting on Monday will start at 10:00am and 10:00am of meeting! Check with our TEAM!". At the bottom right, it says "CALL US: 1.888.775.1557".

New York City, Jun 3, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Seynd web push notification services have launched a free web push notifications plug-in for WordPress Users. Users can start directly communicating with website subscribers using web push notifications.

"Web Push Notifications were created to help solve the problem of emails becoming increasingly less effective. These alert-style messages are sent from your website to your opt-in prospects & customers without the obstacles or limitations seen in email and mobile push notifications." – Bill Schroyer, CTO

WordPress users downloading Seynd's new plug-in can start sending web push notifications to 2000 of their subscribers from any of their WordPress websites for free. Many users agree that Web Push Notification is one of the best compliments to email marketing:

"... I signed up without really knowing what this was. A month later, our website traffic is way up, re-engagement is way up and sales hit an all-time high. We sell high-end products, so your service has had a very big impact on our bottom line." – Shawn, Small Business CEO

Web push notifications by nature guarantee 100% delivery and open rates while making it easier than ever to increase subscribers through a one-click subscription model. Seynd's WordPress plug-in includes custom opt-in messages, welcome campaign templates, automated A/B testing, and performance analytics for tracking.
