

Vitality and Microsoft for Startups Partner for Pandemic Management

Vitality Will Join the Microsoft for Startups Program

Dubai, Jun 8, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Vitality, a startup that has built a pandemic management and crisis response cloud will become part of the Microsoft for Startups Program for MEA.

Roberto Croci - MD, Microsoft for Startups MEA - "We are excited to have Vitality as part of our Microsoft for Startups program for MEA, technology has presented opportunities on how to fight COVID 19 and we at Microsoft for Startups want to be helping the world with the best innovations to help combat this pandemic".

This will include both entities working together on a joint go to market strategy where Microsoft will co-sell Vitalities hardware and software cloud technology which will now be integrated with the Azure cloud tech stack.

Khurram Hamid - CEO and Co-Founder - "Vitality is an enterprise cloud technology for pandemic management and crisis response, what better opportunity to partner with the most valuable company with the best enterprise technology and sales team in the world to accelerate and further build our customer base and scale our platform".

As part of the partnership, Microsoft for Startups is providing access to Azure engineering teams, expertise including blockchain and AI tech and its vast sales network.
