

Ahzu Direct introduces a unique internet radio service providing a platform for musicians to showcase their talent

North Carolina, Jul 13, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - In the current world of vast digitization, everyone wants their entertainment on the go. To match up to the pace of the trend, internet radio has made quite a sensation with its countless streaming stations. Established web hosting and development company, Ahzu Direct has decided to create a new web-based application with the intent of providing affordable stream hosting for broadcasters around the world. The service allows musicians to upload their tracks and distribute them to all major streaming platforms and music stores worldwide.

The service maintains all rights to the artist's music and royalties abiding by the international rules and regulations. Initially, the service was intended to feature Hip Hop artists and Urban Hit radio DJs. Now they have decided to widen their spectrum by adding multiple genres of music programming as well as talk, comedy, and educational radio segments. Interested musicians, DJs, and record labels will be able to submit their music through the submissions page by using a simple multistep form which will then allow the artists to upload MP3 files and cover art for their submitted song.

The platform features automated mixing and scheduled playlist and allows the listeners to access its music anytime and anywhere 24/7. Their official website Ahzumix.com keeps the users updated with the latest music and entertainment news from around the globe through its radio directory and blog posts. They offer both free and premium plans for single radio stations and also come with the option to set up radio networks consisting of multiple radio channels.

The network is accessible through an Android app where the audience can search for specific stations categorized by genre and city.
