

Crown Workspace Partners with SERVPRO® to Safely Help Businesses Re-Open during Covid-19

Designed from CDC, EPA Protocols and Practices to Provide Robust Cleaning Program for Reopening Businesses

Woodbridge, Jul 13, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - As businesses and employees return to the workplace during and after COVID-19, changes to the way we do business will need to be made. That's why Crown Workspace, a nationwide commercial relocation company and SERVPRO® have come together to develop a program to help your business meet the new higher standard of clean that is now expected.

The COVID-19 pandemic has changed what it means to be clean. A recent national survey showed 89% of consumers are apprehensive about going back to brick-and-mortar establishments; 40% of those cite business cleanliness as a top reason for concern.

As communities re-open, businesses are all moving back toward a new kind of normal. The expectations of visitors, customers, and employees who come into establishments have evolved, and staying safe and well is a top concern.

"We will continue to work together with our clients to find solutions in this challenging situation. The impact of COVID-19 is rapidly evolving. We are continually monitoring developments and have increased capacity of our key services to support our clients during this unprecedented period," says Mark Camner, North America Business Development Manager for Crown Workspace. "We are able to service any business anywhere in the United States, with over 1,800 locations, that's service you can count on."

By providing the following services Crown Workspace and SERVPRO® are confident your workforce can get up and running quickly and stay safe throughout the workday:

- SERVPRO® Deep Cleaning – One-time deep clean.
- Certified SERVPRO® Cleaning – a maintenance program that goes beyond what a janitorial service will provide. From proactive cleaning programs to suspect/confirmed COVID cleanings based on your business type, square footage, high-frequency touch points, foot traffic, congestion areas, public spaces and more. Your company will receive visual reaffirmations for customers and employees alike, the Certified: SERVPRO Cleaned seal ensure them the space has been cleaned.
- Higher standard of cleaning
 - Clean bacteria and other microbes
 - Sanitize soft and porous surfaces
 - Disinfect hard and high-touch surfaces

When the stakes are this high, you want a partner who has developed an industry leading, proprietary training program, cleaning solutions, and remediation processes over decades.
