

Make Trading Easy with Our New Versatile Indicator – Brand Cubs

Bengaluru, Jul 10, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - The digital marketing company, Brand Cubs is excited to announce the release of new-fangled algorithmic trading software 'BOSK - Version 1.0 (Binary Options Skeleton – Version 1.0)' on 9th July 2020. This algorithm is developed in MQL4. It acts as technical support for binary options traders and indicates a change in the market trend. Most prominently their software predicts the change in trend in advance which allows our customers to buy more time which facilitates them to make more precise decisions on buying or selling the currency pairs. They are functioning incessantly to upgrade our trading algorithm into fully optimized Artificially Intelligent Bot. They are expecting to release BOSK - Version 2.0 as soon as possible.

Binary options are traded on regulated derivative exchanges where each country has its own monetary policies. The trading platform offered by some unregulated brokers is subject to risk. For which reason, the probabilities of traders earning money through these platforms are uncertain. So, Brand Cubs have developed this trading indicator which minimizes the risk of trading. As per the company, many traders go under stress once they lose a trade and end up dissolving their trading accounts. Brand Cubs have taken this as an opportunity and developed an algorithm that can give some time while making buy/sell decisions.

The indicator is extremely captivating in terms of its execution since it gives a preliminary signal one minute before the appearance of an actual call/put signal. BOSK V1.0 provides accuracy because it's no longer constrained by the limits of human knowledge. Even though the algorithm is quite precise, Brand Cubs doesn't recommend customers to trade with real money. They recommend them to use this as a supportive tool to acquire more knowledge to understand changes in the market.
