

Relive the exalted and ancient Vaishnava culture of Bengal with 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal'

'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal' receives appreciations from all over the world for preserving and promoting the ancient Vaishnava tradition, culture, and the old pilgrimage sites of Bengal.

kolkata, Jul 19, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal' has been doing a distinguished service to the religious-minded people by unearthing and promoting the ancient Vaishnava culture, traditions, and the old pilgrimage sites of Bengal. Bengal is the birthplace of Chaitanya Mahaprabhu and his bhakti movement, which has now reached all corners of the world. The Vaishnava tradition has deep roots in the Bengali society and the teachings and pastimes of Chaitanya Mahaprabhu and his associates are regarded sacred by Vaishnavas all over the world. The pastimes of Chaitanya Mahaprabhu occurred about 500 years before and many of his pastime places or those of his associates lie in ruins today. Some of them have even been lost in course of time. In this context, the contribution of 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal' assumes a lot of significance as the pastime places of Chaitanya and his associates are held sacred and are a source of inspiration for the millions who follow his teachings. Their service has been well received and highly appreciated. Prominent personalities like HH Bhakti Vikas Swami (Iskcon Guru), Michael Cremo (author of 'Forbidden Archaeology' and member of World Archeological Congress), Sri Shyama Sundarananda Debgoswami (Guru of the Shyamanandi sampradaya) have highly praised 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal'. One being asked, Diptiman Gaurahari das, the founder of 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal' said, 'Our services include researching the teachings, pastimes, and pastime places of Chaitanya Mahaprabhu and his bhakti movement. Our website and our books are an attempt to promote and preserve this ancient Gaudiya Vaishnava tradition. We hope that our services can please devotees all over the world'.

He also added, 'Our research is not only confined to West Bengal but we also require visiting Bangladesh frequently as many of Chaitanya Mahaprabhu's associates were born in Bangladesh. Both East and West Bengal are an inseparable part of Sri Chaitanya's movement of love'.

About 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal' – 'The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal' is a spiritual website devoted to preserving and promoting the Gaudiya Vaishnava tradition, culture, and the ancient pilgrimage sites of Bengal. This website contains details of the old teachings, pastimes, and pastime places of Sri Chaitanya and his associates that form the basis of his bhakti movement. Besides, they have also published several spiritual books that are available for worldwide purchase.

Media Contact

The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal

contact@thegaudiyatreasuresofbengal.com

Source : The Gaudiya Treasures of Bengal

See on IssueWire