

The Audacious Journey of India's Youngest Ethical Hacker Shivam Kumar

Youngest Hacker of India at the age of 18

New Delhi, Jul 6, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Shivam Kumar(born 27 May 1999) is a Cyber Security Analyst and Bug Bounty Hunter. After getting below 65% in both his class 10th and 12th, he decided to take matters into his own hands and joined Ethical Hacking courses to fulfil the lifelong dream of becoming a Hacker. An affinity towards computers made him suitable for the same, as he could solve classwork easily and concepts became easier to understand due to his deep interest. After getting more than 90% in the Cybersecurity Professional Exam, he struggled more than a year trying to give career a proper direction due to his young age but soon found his niche in Bug Bounty Hunting. Another year has gone, now he is listed in the Top-1000 hackers by the number one Bug Bounty platform (Bugcrowd.com) and has maintained his position ever since.

Now, he is also working on his blog, cspshivam.com and has designed his own Cybersecurity course to help youths like him find their own path in such a lucrative career. He is going to even teach in a one-on-one environment so as to have the most impact on the student's mind.
