

Topher and Prescott injects the perfect dose of emotion to keep things swinging in 'Port to Starboard'

Topher and Prescott have made the audience fall for their beautiful pair as both the artists invite you to be a part of their emotional journey in 'Port to Starboard'.

Highland Village, Jul 25, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Perhaps this year is witnessing the birth of two of the greatest voices in the rock era. Topher and Prescott have come forward to present their original sounds garaged in a folk-rock style to give others in the genre a very tough competition. Both the artists have smartly and skillfully narrowed down their abilities to give out a mesmerizing audio experience to the listeners and things kept rolling in their favor throughout. Their compositions remind the audience of what happens when two rock stars collide and the outcome is a beautiful melody line, enough to keep your senses sane. The blissful experience, the artists provide with their strong vocal skills capsule the listener's attention throughout, and they have sketched out a unique identity for themselves with their confessional writing skills.

Their latest music video 'Port to Starboard' is a melodic presentation of their versatility and the artists have engulfed the audience with their introspective verses. Touching all the realms of folk-rock in their creation, the artists have laid out a terrific performance that makes their position in the industry far more stable. The collaboration between the two singers has given the song a refreshing direction and the rock lean production is every bit beautiful and poetic. The melodies are fresh and soul-stirring at the same time. Beginning with a soft alluring soundscape, the song flows freely to uphold its meaningful lyricism. Both the artists sing in the concoction to deliver the hitting lyrics. The words, someday we wander alone, someday we wake up alone and on some days we walk on our own, sound satisfying, passionate, and lead up to create imagery in the listener's mind. The unique amalgamation of the male and the female vocals creates an ambiance of nostalgia and the lyrics guide the listener to experience a euphoric vibe. The finger-picked instrumental sound offers the soundscape the perfect back up and has been very well performed to point out the hook of the song. The visual clips are hazy and have been styled with a retro theme most appropriate to give the song a fitting essence.

Topher and Prescott have delivered an easy hit and the song has been so well written that the listeners get driven to its infectious hook. They have presented their voices extremely well and given the writing a deeply personal sense. 'Port to Starboard' reveals the artists' warm and comforting sound that ultimately leaves you feeling at ease and the concept is relatable enough to resolve anything. Watch it on YouTube now.
