

Up and Coming Artist EL3CTRXX Is Excited to Showcase Other Genres in New Music

New York City, Jul 16, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Self-expression is vital for every human being, and there are lots of avenues for it. It can take place through clothes, hairstyles, body language, communication, and art, among other things. Music is one of the most common platforms to convey artistic expression, and it has been for quite some time now. With the emerging genres of today, music artists now have more and more styles to choose from when it comes to expression. Among the artists that recently show promise in the music scene is an emerging talent known as EL3CTRXX.

The Kokomo, Indiana-born artist began his musical career in college when he would DJ for events and parties on campus. Earlier on in his life, he has had several influences such as Ferry Corsten, Armin Van Buuren, Paul Oakenfold, Tiesto, Paul Van Dyke, Diplo, and Daft Punk. EL3CTRXX started out with a serious interest in the hip-hop genre, but later on, he eventually developed a taste for dance music, which is evident in his music to this day. He has released mixes across different genres, all with a touch of electronic dance base. These were inspired by the time he was exposed to various genres of music through attending shows in Los Angeles and Hollywood. These experiences would later form part of his identity as a musician.

The seasoned producer and artist believes that what makes him unique is his objective to tell his story through the material he puts out. Everyone's journey is unique, and he believes that one can learn much from the experiences of others. Being able to share his message to an audience and having them relate to it is important for EL3CTRXX. According to him, music can be a healing tool to spark and inspire unity amidst the divisiveness of our world today. One of his biggest goals as an artist is to make his audience feel the positive vibes and emotions he radiates in his songs and performances. Some of his favorite events to perform in are the Kentucky Derby celebrity event and the Derby Hot 100, which he has headlined for a few years in a row.

The artist commits to putting his life and soul into his craft. He is genuine and honest in the message he sends out, and these are the very qualities that allow his fans to resonate with him.

EL3CTRXX is excited to share his music with more people. He wishes to connect with those who have an interest in dance, deep house, progressive house, big room house, electro house, pop, and trance. He is looking forward to incorporating elements from different genres in his future music, which he plans to release very soon.

For now, he continues to promote and grow his brand through his social media platforms, where he shares some wise words from his favorite artists to his fans. His new music will be dropping on July 24, 2020.
