AllOffice.Space Continues To Expand In Mexico; 3 New Available Locations in Guadalajara

The Canadian real estate firm offers three new offices to rent adapted to withstand modern health and hygiene issues.

Guadalajara, Aug 12, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - AllOffice.Space continues to expand in the Mexican office rental market with three new locations in the city of Guadalajara. With the offering of functional and modern spaces designed to face the COVID-19 challenge. AllOffice.Space continues working with proven and applied solutions in the Canada and US market. Proposing brilliant alternatives to their clients, so they can continue working and remain productive in these difficult times.

"We came to Mexico prepared with all the new knowledge learned in Canada and the US since the start of the pandemic." - said Chris Allen, Director of Sales & Marketing of AllOffice.Space. “Our proven administrative and spacing solutions have been satisfactory to the clients. Allowing them to complete their work in a healthy environment with confidence”.

The fast-spreading of the COVID-19 through Mexico has forced some companies to reduce or suspend their production operations. Affecting the global economy of the country. With more than 30 thousand new unemployed in Jalisco alone, both authorities and industries must look for appropriate solutions to reactivate the productive sector. Some private companies are already taking the initiative to redesign their work areas and setting up new satellite offices far from HQs. Allowing employees to disperse with greater social distancing following the standards established by the WHO.

“The world has changed with COVID-19. That’s why all the aspects of the way we work, must adapt to the new challenges.” - said Maria Gonzales, The Xchange Market Owner. “AllOffice.Space is aware of those changes, and offer us a great option to rotate our team. Thanks a lot.”
