BigKiu Conceives an Equitable Idea for Equal Reception of the Covid-19 Vaccine across the Global Population

Bigkiu CEO: "every one should have the same chance for receiving the vaccine"

Silicon Valley, Aug 10, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - BigKiu is a website developed by a group of entrepreneurs that orders the world population to receive the Covid-19 vaccine. The need for a vaccine or medication for Covid-19 is essential. Many pharmaceutical companies are working on it. However, once it is commercially launched, the market will see a crisis in providing billions of units to cover the entire population. But this process might practically take years and the list of prioritizing every patient receiving the medicine might also come across an issue of social order.

Aware of this situation, a group of European entrepreneurs has launched the BigKiu to order the 7.818 million people on our planet into a single list. The way to assign the position on this list is random. During August 2020, all registrations will have the same chances of being in each position. From that moment on, each new registration will have a correlative position.

According to its organizers, BigKiu works to bring justice in the distribution of goods and services, especially with regard to health and social rights, but it also seeks a new way for the general population to keep a fair order for any activity of people's daily lives such as cultural and sports events, as well as consumer and technological goods.

The organization has issued a press release to the main press agencies to cover the more than 200 states that make up the world. According to its organizers, it is very important to assure equal opportunities and everyone should know this option. They are also aware that a family or group of people who join BigKiu at the same time must be together after the raffle. In the raffle, one person will be chosen at random from all those registered until August 31. This person will be the first on the list, following the initial registration order process.

To achieve the commitment of the pharmaceutical companies, BigKiu has contacted the most important companies in the world, making them aware of its proposal and encouraging them to sign a fair distribution agreement among the population. Depending on the vaccines available at each time, BigKiu will manage its distribution according to the established order so that all people have the same rights. Be part of this exchange of humanity and justice by visiting their website at http://www.bigkiu.com.

Media Contact

bigkiu

info@bigkiu.com

+34646951624

Source : bigkiu

See on IssueWire