

Magento Development Service Offered By Axton Group

New York City, Aug 14, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Axton Group is a US-based IT and Web Development Company that offers many web development services according to customer needs. Now, Axton Group added one new service Magneto Development that is very useful at the present time. Magneto is an open-source content organization scheme for e-commerce websites and also an active eCommerce platform. Therefore, Axton Group magneto development service is very fast and reliable. Most of the clients preferred magneto development service because Magneto is measured as the most perfect technique to develop and design online stores. Axton Group technologies offer perfect techniques in the field of magneto development service. Magneto development is known as the all-inclusive shopping cart platform which is extremely flexible and customizable. It can also be applied to modify the design as per your requirements and needs.

Axton Group includes several components for Magento Development such as Design Integration, Module Integration, Web Design, web development, custom components development, modules development, numerous ideas Integration, custom modification and customization. These components are very useful in the development of Magento Development and mostly use in Web Development. Thus, the company offers Magento eCommerce development store maintenance and numerous website which helps in advertising the list across the domain. The top part is that they are very scalable and is measured as a worldwide shopping cart platform that is utilized widely and broadly.

Axton Group also offers lots of other services such as graphics design, web design, Joomla web development, Core PHP web development, E-commerce web development, search engine optimization that is SEO and Web Hosting Service. These services are offered with quality website development and reliable web designing services that is the main benefit to the clients at Axton Group. Hence, there are lots of Website Development USA services which are also well-liked for the reason that of the reality that there are accessible plenty of free of charge and paid extensions in the online listing that is recognized as Magento Connect.

About The Company

Axton Group is the USA based leading development company that provides consulting and numerous other E-Commerce services to its clients. Their services include web development, mobile app development, E-Commerce development, UI/UX design, and latest trending technologies. They provide optimum E-Commerce solutions to entrepreneurs as well as a startup that wants to increase their reach worldwide. They have achieved remarkable success by delivering quality and timely services to their 800+ customers.

Contact information

Axton Group

Head Office: 224 W 35th St, New York, NY 10001

Call: +1 610-209-3937

E-mail: info@axtongroup.com

Website - <http://www.axtongroup.com>

Media Contact

Axton Group

pr@axtongroup.com

Source : Axton Group

See on IssueWire