Six Stories. One Demon...

New York City, Aug 22, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Smithline Films & Ugly Productions have announced today that THE HUNTER'S ANTHOLOGY, a new mystery/thriller anthology series has completed its first season and will be available for streaming in the fall of 2020.

This five-episode, half-hour show stars newcomer Taylor August as Mac, a mysterious man who claims to be a demon hunter. After trapping six strangers in a New York City subway, he peeks into their souls discovering each of their five eerie, supernatural tales. It's then up to Mac to solve the mystery and destroy the demon amongst them.

"THE HUNTER'S ANTHOLOGY, in the form of six short stories, lets us peek into our main characters' souls and discover how each personally reacts to fear, and quite literally, their own demons." – Robert Smithline

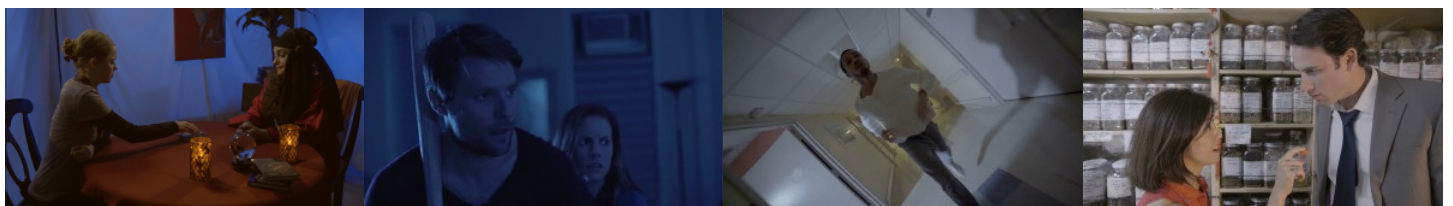

"Rob gave me the script for THE HUNTER'S ANTHOLOGY and I thought it was really good. He had a great vision for everything he was writing and everything he was doing so I wanted to get it out there. The script is quite fun. It's spooky. It's interesting. It'll give you the chills sometimes." – Arezu "Nicky" Akmal

The first season also stars Eric Colton, Janna Bossier, Olev Aleksander, Kristy Cloetingh, Cole Taylor, and Sara Mari Lopez. "The Hunter's Anthology" was created by Robert Smithline and Arezu "Nicky" Akmal. Production wrapped last year after filming on location in New York and New Jersey.

The trailer for the series and each individual episode was released and can be found on www.thehuntersanthology.com along with production stills, behind the scenes interviews, and more.
