New York City, Sep 5, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Recognized as a skilled internist, Dr. D'Agostino has been in private practice in Naples, Florida since 1996. He has over 2,500 active patients, each of whom experiences personalized care that harkens to a bygone era of medicine.

Specializing in the medical treatment of adults, the doctor offers the following services at his practice: primary care, well care exams, well woman examinations, annual physicals, sports and camp physicals, full on-site laboratory testing, adult and pediatric immunizations, preventive health care, preoperative clearance, minor dermatologic procedures, cardiac and vascular screening, and coordination of hospital care.

A graduate of the University of Notre Dame with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biochemistry, Dr. D'Agostino went on to obtain his medical degree from the University of South Florida Morsani College of Medicine in 1992. He was a resident in internal medicine from 1992 until 1995. Thereafter, he served as Chief Resident in Internal Medicine at the James A. Haley VA in Tampa, Florida from 1995 until 1996, after which he started a solo practice in internal medicine and primary care medicine in his hometown of Naples.

Professionally, Dr. D'Agostino has been serving as the Subsection Chief of Internal Medicine at Naples Community Hospital since July of 1996.

In addition to being a Fellow of the American College of Physicians (FACP), he is board-certified in internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Internal medicine is the medical specialty dealing with the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of adult diseases. Physicians specializing in internal medicine are called internists. They manage and prevent common and complex diseases by providing comprehensive care and promoting overall well-being.

On a more personal note, Dr. D'Agostino speaks English, Spanish, and Italian.
