

Corona Virus Havoc : Jee Le Zara Film's Shooting Stopped By Director Gurdev K Aneja And Producer Vine Arora

Noida, Sep 7, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Due to Coronavirus, it has been decided to stop shooting for the upcoming film “Jee Le Zara”. The shooting of the feature Film “Jee Le Zara” was in process for the last few days in some outer parts of Delhi and Chandigarh.

The havoc of the coronavirus is affecting everyone's work. During the shooting of Jee Le Zara, after getting information about symptoms of infection of some team members, Producer Vine Arora and Director Gurdev K Aneja took the decision together to halt shooting temporarily for some time until every team member is tested negative for Corona. Every team member has been asked to quarantine themselves for at least 15 days to ensure the safety of the whole unit during the shooting of the film in future.

In today's time when most filmmakers are making women-oriented films to highlight their issues, Producer “Vine Arora” and Director “Gurdev K Aneja” are focusing on a very serious pressure faced by men through his male-centric film “Jee Le Zara”. The film is conceptualized on the life of men that is usually considered to be settled one. Even in Bollywood, directors and producers are only focusing on women-oriented film, and visualize the struggle of women. " Jee Le Zara". Which is based on men's struggles, will be a voice of millions of men struggling with their own life. The only concept of the film is about "life of men" which is guaranteed.

Being a man is itself a huge struggle in this society. There are numerous people who are showing fake feminism and supporting women, programs have been launched for women and girl children, but still, women are not safe, but because of it every guy is getting targeted, the whole male society is judged just because of a few dicks. Not every guy is doing rape, not every guy is forcing their partner to stay at home, not every guy is restricting women, and not every guy is disrespecting women. As a Producer of this film, Vine Arora showcases the 'life of a man' and depicts the struggling life of a common man in today's era. Many of such struggling men's lives are shown in this film with the innovative direction of Gurdev K Aneja.

When asked, Director Gurdev Aneja said, 'Due to the coronavirus and in the interest of the worker, shooting of the film Jee Le Zara is being stopped for some time. Given the time, a good decision will be made.
