

Launch announcement of Brilliant Teams - An eLearning and training company

Specialise in training and eLearning development

Brisbane, Sep 8, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - We are happy to announce the Launch of “Brilliant Teams”, an eLearning and training company specialise in training and eLearning development to upskill and create “Brilliant Team”.

Spring is a time of growth, renewal, and the cycle of life once again starting. This is especially true at present with so many changes to what we know as the “norm” so what better time to look at how you are supporting your people with skill development, resilience and change management.

Brilliant Teams have highly experienced and specialised learning and organisational development specialists to assist with all facets of Learning and Development needs. With over twenty years' experience in a wide range of industries, we offer organisations, small business and not for profits, the opportunity to provide their teams with all of the benefits of a large specialised in-house learning team without the overheads of permanent qualified and skilled personnel. A win-win for all which allows all types of teams to receive the quality training and capability development that large companies, with dedicated resources, can provide.

If you need to design, develop, re-view or re-vamp your learning and development needs for your staff – face-to-face, or eLearning - now is the time to get started.
